CONTENTS

DESMOND H. BROWN, Abortive Attempts to Codify English Criminal Law 1

WILLIAM R. STACY, Impeachment, Attainder, and the 'Revival' of Parliamentary Judicature under the Early Stuarts 40

RICHARD CUST, Parliamentary Elections in the 1620: The Case of Great Yarmouth 179

RICHARD HARDING, Lord Cathcart, the Earl of Stair and the Scottish Opposition to Walpole, 1732–1735 192

PATRICK WOODLAND, The House of Lords, the City of London and Political Controversy in the Mid-1760s: The Opposition to the Cider Excise Further Considered 57

VIOLET ROWE, The Hertford Borough 1832 Election 88

E. K. G. JAGGARD, Political Continuity and Change in Late Nineteenth-Century Cornwall 218

T. A. JENKINS, Hartington, Chamberlain and the Unionist Alliance, 1886–1895 108

JANE RIDLEY, The Unionist Opposition and the House of Lords, 1906–1910 238

Notes and Documents:

CLYVE JONES and FRANCES HARRIS, 'A Question . . . Carried by Bishops, Pensioners, Place-men, Idiots': Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough and the Lords' Division Over the Spanish Convention, 1 March 1739 254

GARY W. COX, The Origins of Whip Votes in the House of Commons 278

Review Articles:

JOANNA INNES, Politics, Property and the Middle Class 286

DEREK BEALES, The Electorate Before and After 1832: The Right to Vote, and the Opportunity 139

RICHARD BRENT, New Whigs in Old Bottles 151

PIPPA NORRIS, Change Plus Ca Change? 293

Reviews: 157–76, 300–30